

ALLISONS

The School House,
3 Cross Pit Lane,
Rainford, St Helens,
Merseyside, WA11 8AH

01744 885555
hello@allisonsfinancial.com
www.allisonsfinancial.com

Residential Property Review

April 2022

Supply shortages fail to blunt sales

Low availability is once again the key trend in the UK housing market, even as stock levels edge upwards and sales remain strong.

In March, estate agents reported a 3.5% monthly rise in the level of stock on their books, according to Zoopla. Moreover, the number of homes coming to market has exceeded new sales since January, according to TwentyCi.

The low availability of stock has not managed to stem the flow of sales; Savills report that completions in February were 17% above the 2017-19 average. Looking ahead, the number of sales agreed is also strong, about 15% higher than the 2017-19 average.

However, the imbalance between supply and demand, which has characterised the market since the pandemic, has not yet steadied, with warnings that the faint signs of new supply are unlikely to meet the required high levels of demand any time soon.

Soaring rents as Scotland catches up

Rents in Scotland rose year-on-year by 2.6% in February 2022, higher than the corresponding figures for England (2.1%) and Wales (1.4%), new market analysis by DJ Alexander Ltd has revealed.

After years of slower growth, the Scottish annual rate has outpaced the English and Welsh rises every month since July 2021. Longer term, however, Scotland still lags its UK counterparts since 2015.

A separate survey corroborates the trend. Scotland recorded the largest annual variance in the year to March 2022, according to market analysis from HomeLet. The rise of 12.9% pushed the average rent in Scotland up to £770 per month.

David Alexander, chief executive officer of DJ Alexander Scotland, commented, "The current increases in rents across Scotland reflects growing demand but is also a sign that the market is correcting itself... current increases are simply a sign of Scotland catching up."

Housing hotspots create fierce competition

With demand still outpacing supply, many buyers are facing fierce competition in their hunt for the ideal home.

Some in-demand locations are seeing more than twice as many buyer enquiries for every property than this time last year, according to Rightmove.

Hotspots include Shirley in Solihull, where the number of enquiries about each home for sale is 143% higher than the same period last year. The town appeals to buyers owing to a high number of outstanding schools and its road links to Birmingham and Stratford.

Good transport links and excellent schools are common features across the hotspots. Jesmond, a suburb of Newcastle-Upon-Tyne, combines both, as well as many properties in conservation areas and has seen buyer enquiries shoot up by 141% compared to 2021.

Chorlton-cum-Hardy in Greater Manchester (+138%) and Balham in London (+113%) are two more hotspots with surging demand. On average, Rightmove estimates that this competition has pushed asking prices in the hotspots up by 11% in a year.

In March, estate agents reported a 3.5% monthly rise in the level of stock on their books, according to Zoopla

House prices headline statistics

|                               |          |
|-------------------------------|----------|
| House Price Index (Feb 2022)* | 145.2*   |
| Average House Price           | £276,755 |
| Monthly Change                | 0.5%     |
| Annual Change                 | 10.9%    |

*(Jan 2015 = 100)

- Average house prices in the UK increased by 10.9% in the year to February 2022
- On a non-seasonally adjusted basis, average house prices in the UK increased by 0.5% between January and February 2022
- House price growth was strongest in Wales where prices increased by 14.2% in the year to February 2022.

Source: The Land Registry
Release date: 13/04/22
Next data release: 18/5/22

House prices Price change by region

| Region                              | Monthly change (%) | Annual change (%) | Average price (£) |
|-------------------------------------|--------------------|-------------------|-------------------|
| England                             | 0.9%               | 10.7%             | £295,888          |
| Northern Ireland (Quarter 4 - 2021) | 0.1%               | 7.9%              | £159,151          |
| Scotland                            | -1.7%              | 11.7%             | £180,822          |
| Wales                               | -0.7%              | 14.2%             | £205,114          |
| East Midlands                       | -0.4%              | 10.9%             | £235,993          |
| East of England                     | 1.3%               | 12.5%             | £345,652          |
| London                              | 2.2%               | 8.1%              | £529,882          |
| North East                          | 1.2%               | 9.4%              | £152,551          |
| North West                          | 1.6%               | 10.2%             | £203,538          |
| South East                          | -0.3%              | 12.0%             | £380,528          |
| South West                          | 1.2%               | 12.5%             | £312,697          |
| West Midlands Region                | 0.3%               | 10.0%             | £237,757          |
| Yorkshire and The Humber            | 1.2%               | 9.5%              | £198,599          |

Average monthly price by property type – February 2022

| Property Type                 | Annual Increase |
|-------------------------------|-----------------|
| Detached£438,523          | 14.4%           |
| Semi-detached£265,915     | 11.4%           |
| Terraced£222,930          | 9.0%            |
| Flat / maisonette£228,003 | 8.1%            |

Source: The Land Registry
Release date: 13/4/22

Housing market outlook

"The squeeze on household incomes is set to intensify, with inflation expected to rise further, perhaps reaching double digits in the quarters ahead if global energy prices remain high. Moreover, assuming that labour market conditions remain strong, the Bank of England is likely to raise interest rates further, which will also exert a drag on the market if this feeds through to mortgage rates."

Robert Gardner, Chief Economist at Nationwide

Source: Nationwide March 2022

Contains HM Land Registry data © Crown copyright and database right 2022.
This data is licensed under the Open Government Licence v3.0.

All details are correct at the time of writing (13/04/2022)

It is important to take professional advice before making any decision relating to your personal finances. Information within this document is based on our current understanding and can be subject to change without notice and the accuracy and completeness of the information cannot be guaranteed. It does not provide individual tailored investment advice and is for guidance only. Some rules may vary in different parts of the UK. We cannot assume legal liability for any errors or omissions it may contain. Levels and bases of, and reliefs from taxation are those currently applying or proposed and are subject to change; their value depends on the individual circumstances of the investor. No part of this document may be reproduced in any manner without prior permission. No part of this document may be reproduced in any manner without prior permission.